Jaycees Here Name Woman President Despite National 'Men-Only' Stand

Patricia E. Kidd, vice-president of Astro Publications, has been installed as president of the Greater Princeton Jaycees. Ms. Kidd is the first woman in the state elected to the top post in a local chapter of an organization that at its national convention last week in Atlantic City voted by a 3-to-1 ratio to retain its men-only status.

Ms. Kidd says she became interested in the Jaycees through the activities in the community of her co-worker, Ed Saikind, and she was the first woman in the state to join a Jaycees chapter in 1975. That was the year that the national convention voted against a proposal to allow female membership by a margin of 89 percent.

At that time, a study commission was formed and a pilot program was begun in which women were admitted to Jaycee chapters in Alaska, Massachusetts and the District of Columbia. At issue this year was a change in the by-laws which would have given individual state chapters the option of allowing female membership. A two-thirds vote was needed for approval.

There are currently woman presidents of five other Jaycees across the nation, but these are in cities such as Palo Alto, Hartford, Philadelphia and Chicago. The Chicago Jaycees were forced to withdraw from the national organization immediately following the vote that elected its woman president in order to keep its corporate sponsors.

Ms. Kidd thinks that the top leaders in the national organization realize that the presence of women is "inevitable" and that in four or five years women may be expected to be full, regular members throughout the organization. She thinks it is a matter of time before the younger members attain some voting power.

The state organization has been very supportive of the admission of a number of women to the Princeton organization, she says. Ms. Kidd is a member of a panel that is studying the whole question of women's membership in the state. The panel finds that many New Jersey organizations have been reluctant to admit they have women members for fear their charters may be revoked, but that there are 10 Jaycees in the state that say they have women.

Mary L. Fracaroli, who works in the state Department of Education, was installed as treasurer at the same time Ms. Kidd became as president. Other officers include the internal vice-president, Andrew Jackson of Mobil Technical Labs; external vice-president Martin Bloomenthal, who is with Eugene O'Connor, architects; and secretary Joseph Pepin, of Western Electric.

Residents of Two Areas in Town Seek to Preserve Character of Their Neighborhoods against Change

Residents of Bayard Lane Area Uniting Against Proposed Medical Arts Building

The Princeton Zoning Board convened Saturday morning at 9 o'clock sharp to hear further testimony in the application to build a medical arts building at the foot of Bayard Lane, where State Road begins.

Despite the hour and the day, about 35 residents from the immediate area, which includes Bayard Lane, Duffield Place, Mountain Avenue, Morgan Place and Pardoe Road, showed up along with their lawyer to continue their opposition to the plan.

By the time the meeting was adjourned at 12:30, the opponents, either through questions from the floor or from their attorney, William Sutphin, had succeeded in casting at least a shadow of doubt on the testimony of one expert called to testify by the applicants' attorney. The opponents also managed to identify most of the doctors interested in locating their offices in the proposed building.

A petition presented to the Zoning Board at the meeting included the names of Charles D. Allen, Steven Baum, Howard Buckwald, Gilbert A. Falcone, Richard Holstein, Leroy Hunninghake, George O. Isaacson, Arthur E. Mitnacht, Louis J. Russo Jr., and Paul E. Van Horn.

Most important, the opponents succeeded, at the very least, in delaying approval of the proposed project. Mr. Sutphin had just begun to present his case when the meeting was adjourned. The board will not be able to reconvene to continue the hearing until August 2.

But the opponents clearly are hoping for more than just a delay. "There are some kinds of non-conforming uses in a zone which can be made compatible with people in the zone," said Jon Hlafter of 33 Morgan Place after the meeting. "You might even get the people in the zone to support the project. But I don't feel this group did the kind of homework necessary to find out what kind of neighborhood is involved here."

The opponents felt the traffic study prepared by the applicants was particularly unimpressive. "It seemed to be ill-prepared and didn't resolve our concerns," said Mr. Hlafter.

The proposed medical arts building would contain 12 suites housing a total of 15 doctors and dentists, who would buy rather than rent their facilities, making the building, in effect, a condominium.

The building would be located on a triangle of land bordered by the new Mountain Avenue Extension, Route 206, and the northern end of Bayard Lane. The applicants have indicated they will provide parking for 104 patients' cars, 16 doctors' cars and 29 staff cars. Cars would enter and exit through a driveway leading into Mountain Avenue Extension, opposite the driveway leading to the new north side of Community Park.

Traffic, and the possibility of resulting congestion, are exactly what bother the residents the most. The Use Variance Committee of the Planning Board also has reservations to the proposed building and has doubts

Hodge Road Neighbors Offer to Purchase No. 142 from Members of Religious Cult

In the vicinity of Hodge Road, no one yet knows quite what to make of the prospective new owners of the 18-room house, formerly occupied by the state chancellor of higher education.

But what the Hodge Road residents do know about Mr. and Mrs. John Desiderio and the group with which they are affiliated, the Circle of Friends, does not make them comfortable. Last week eight of the neighbors filed suit against the state, hoping to block the completion of the sale to the Desiderios, who bid $212,500 for the property and made a $21,250 deposit.

This week the neighbors took one further step to keep the Friends from moving in next door. They offered the Desiderios $235,000 for the house, which would give them a quick profit of $22,500 and give the Hodge Road neighbors a chance to sell the house—probably at a small loss—to someone they would consider more compatible.

But would the deal with the Desiderios and the Hodge Road residents go through? "We want to move as quickly as possible," said Howard Menand, a retired University professor who lives at 140 Hodge Road. "The Desiderios can always change their mind or have it changed for them."

A representative of the Friends told TOWN TOPICS that the group "probably would be amenable" to the sale of 142 Hodge Road to the neighbors' group. "Even though we went to the neighbors and tried to talk with them, they continue to seem adamant against us," said Peggy Reinauer of the Friends. "If they're willing to put their money behind their opposition to us, then we're willing to negotiate."

Few pieces of Princeton real estate ever have attracted such contrasting buyers and sellers. The plaintiffs in the suit against the state—essentially the same group seeking to buy the house from the Desiderios—include J. Richardson Dilworth, financial adviser to the Rockefeller family; Elizabeth S. Morgan, Ethel P. Morgan, Norman T. Calloway, Elisabeth Calloway, Walker W. Stevenson, Jr., Virginia Stevenson, and Ruth T. Sargent.

Mr. Menand filed an affidavit questioning the Desiderios' assertion that they were buying the property solely for their personal use and as an investment.

"Mrs. Desiderio stopped by my house several weeks ago," Mr. Menand said. "She said she and her husband were going to live in the house by themselves. I asked her if either she or her husband had ever been in the house. She said no, that they had had a real estate agent look at it for them."

"That threw up a danger signal right away," Mr. Menand continued. "A young couple just does not put $212,500 into a home without looking at it first. Who knows, they might be model neighbors for the first few years, and then—wham!—there's 25 to 30 people living in there."

"We're not being vindictive. What we're concerned about the capacity of the streets in that area, including the jughandle being constructed across State Road, to handle the increased traffic. The Planning Board's attorney, Allan Porter, is participating in these hearings. He sits alongside Mr. Sutphin.

Michael J. Giuliano of Brick Town was the traffic consultant retained by the doctors' group. Under questioning by the applicants' attorney, Gordon Strauss, Mr. Giuliano testified that the proposed medical building would generate about 790 trips of cars coming and going from the offices. "There would be no defined peak period," he said, "since most people would be operating on an 8 to 12-hour day. It seems evident that 790 vehicles a day will not stress the existing highway system."

Mr. Sutphin and the opponents in the audience were not so sure of Mr. Giuliano's analysis, nor of his familiarity with the highways being studied.

Clouded Geography. Mr. Sutphin asked the traffic expert if he knew how motorists normally got from Somerville to Trenton. "Route 22," replied Mr. Giuliano. Mr. Sutphin looked puzzled. "A portion would have to be Route 22," Mr. Giuliano added.

"Are you aware of the intersection of Elm Road and Route 206?"

"It's two miles north of this site," replied Mr. Giuliano. "It is?" Mr. Sutphin asked. "I don't know," said the traffic expert.

Mr. Porter asked the consultant if he had compared the data provided to him by the doctors with any standard references showing the average numbers of patients visiting a doctor. "I did not question the data given to me," responded Mr. Giuliano.

Mr. Hlafter also questioned the traffic analysis. "I ride my bike to work almost every morning," he said. "We have a dangerous intersection now, where Bayard Lane meets Route 206. The jughandle will eliminate that intersection, but this project, with its driveway on Mountain Avenue Extension, will just create another intersection of questionable safety."

Those In Favor. The position of the doctors was set forth first in the petition presented to the board and then in the personal testimony of Dr. Richard Holstein, a pediatric dentist who would like to relocate his practice in the proposed building.

The petition cited the doctors' needs "for larger or more efficiently planned quarters;" for a building designed specifically "to suit the unique requirements of medical practice;" for adequate parking; and for "close physical proximity to colleagues in related fields." The petition stated the doctors had had "extreme difficulty" in trying to meet this combination of needs at other locations in Princeton, whether for sale or for rent.

Dr. Holstein said he has practiced in Princeton for four years and considers his location at 195 Nassau Street as "a temporary facility. I have young patients and handicapped patients in wheelchairs," he said. "I have been looking since I first came to town but, as a one-man practice, costs are a factor." He said that purchase of a condominium would enable

Parking Garage Debate Intensifies as Member Of Advisory Committee Takes Stand Against It

Why a parking garage? Why a multi-level garage? Why in the central business district? And why now? Those questions, in the air frequently in recent weeks, have been batted up once more, this time by a new opponent of the structure, as well as by the principal proponents.

Announcing his opposition to the parking garage was Michael A. Rockland of 8 Madison Street, who for the past year served on the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Parking.

In a letter to Mayor Robert Cawley, Mr. Rockland points out that he was the only member of the parking committee representing the residents of the central business district: "Since the plans for the garage were made public, I have had the benefit of hearing what people who live in or near the CBD feel about the garage. I must report to you that the level of opposition is such that I could no longer support the garage even if I was for it myself."

Mayor Cawley and the members of Borough Council, meanwhile, issued their own statement this week, trying to answer questions and explain issues in the parking garage discussion.

The statement, presented in question and answer form and highlighted below, is part of a continuing effort by Mayor and Council to explain their parking garage decision to the public. The garage will be discussed at a special meeting of the Environmental Design Review Committee of the Regional Planning Board this Friday night. Mayor Cawley will address the proposal again next Wednesday, July 5, at the monthly meeting of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce (see box).

Good Faith Cited. All of this discussion, the Mayor and Council point out in their statement, does not have to take place: "Because the garage...fully complies with the Borough zoning ordinance, the only issue is site review. And this review is not legally required of the Borough by our land use ordinance. The Borough has volunteered as an act of good faith to this review to assure citizens that the project meets design standards."

Good faith or not, Mr. Rockland argues in effect, the concept is bad planning. "Princeton is special because people still want to live downtown," Mr. Rockland maintains. "It is the people living downtown who humanize Princeton, keep parkers, not to mention the ring lot proposals which have never been tried."

'An Essential Investment.' Mayor Cawley and Council, in their statement, indicated that they, too, have had reservations about the parking garage. "The building of a parking garage in Princeton's downtown is a decision that did not come easily," they wrote, "despite ten years of consistent Planning Board recommendation."

The "catalyst" was the proposed Princeton Community Housing project for the elderly and middle income families. "That housing cannot be built without a garage, nor can any other expansion take place without a garage.... The garage is an essential investment in order to create the exciting things yet to come," the Council stated.

The Mayor's and Council's statement also provided the following questions and answers:

Won't the garage increase Borough taxes? No. The economic studies show an excess of revenue above expenditures including debt service (helped by rent from associated commercial wing.)

Why a garage on this site? The only practical sites are the Witherspoon and Tulane parking yards (the proposed site) and the sites along Chambers Street. The parking deficiency is much greater in the Witherspoon Street to Vandeventer area than in the Chambers Street and Palmer Square area.

How do you explain the open parking spaces? Yes, even at the busiest times of day--around noon--there may be spaces available, but all our data show there are few. Parking consultants say that greater than 85 percent occupancy discourages people. The calculated parking crime rates down, keep the quality of life up for everyone."

"The garage may start an irreversible process whereby downtown increasingly becomes a place where people work and shop but do not live. Our downtown neighborhoods are already bearing too great an ecological burden. Add an 800-car garage, extraordinary amounts of traffic concentrated in a small area, and attendant fumes and we will find these neighborhoods on their way to becoming slums."

Mr. Rockland added that "if curbside parking is not available because all day parkers feed meters--the major argument advanced in favor of the garage--then let us police those all day parkers. There is still a great deal of parking available throughout the Borough and nearby Township streets for all day

Garage Encountering Occasional Delays But Each Day Brings It Nearer Reality

While the pros and cons of the parking garage issue are being debated, the Mayor and Council are busy dotting i's and crossing t's in order to make the proposal a reality.

This Thursday night at 8 Council will hold its July meeting--moved forward for scheduling reasons. Three ordinances will be introduced: establishing a municipal utility for parking; setting forth zoning requirements for parking (parking requirements for businesses will still be maintained even after the garage is built); and creating a bond issue which will pay for the structure. The cost now is estimated at between $3 and $4 million.

Then on Friday night at 7:30, in Room 208 of the Valley Road School, the Environmental Design Review Committee of the Regional Planning Board will meet to review the plan. "It was the only time available and we're trying to push this thing through," said Mayor Cawley, in explanation of the unusual meeting time.

After that, the plan will be submitted to the entire Planning Board, which has not yet decided on a time for its meeting. Then, the mayor expects, public hearings can be held on the three ordinances at Council's August meeting. The mayor also expects the ordinances will be enacted at that time. If so, deficiencies (1972-1977) range from 700 to 900.

Couldn't we meet the all day parking needs by fringe lots and a shuttle bus to avoid building the garage? The principle of parking all-day parkers outside of the CBD and shuttle busing them to the CBD is an excellent idea. The Borough and Township tried it in 1974 and it was a disaster—no riders. The First National Bank of Princeton has successfully operated such a service since 1974, so it can be done. We still hope to do something like that during construction and continue afterwards. But in no way can we expect anything like 550 cars to be displaced—200 would be wonderful. The Borough also has 100 spaces on Maclean Street within walking distance of downtown. There have been few takers, even at our low rates: $12 per month.

Won't the garage limit the planned library expansion and limit access to the library? The answer to both is no. There will be ample room for the planned expansion. The parking on Witherspoon will remain in front of the library and a rear turn around will be provided as well. The garage will have at least 250 short term spaces—an increase over what is presently available. Half hour rates will be 10 cents.

Won't 550 all day parkers leaving at once create a gigantic traffic jam? The traffic consultant says no. Most who will park all day do so now nearby. The direct exit to Wiggins will relieve interior streets of much traffic.

What are the expected parking fees? Long term, $35 a month; park and shop, 10 cents for first half hour, 20 cents for first hour, 20 cents for second hour, 40 cents an hour for the third and fourth hours, and 60 cents an hour thereafter. Rates for overnight parking have not been set. Meters in the CBD will be 25 cents an hour, with many offering 12 minutes of parking for a nickel.

DELAYS ENCOUNTERED
On Community Park Bids. Township Committee found itself unable to accept any bids submitted last week for work it would like done on the new north side of Community Park.

Committee received two bids for the proposed work on the amphitheater at the park, currently under construction on the north side of Route 206, opposite the existing park. Both bids were over the appropriated amount of $50,000. The lower of the two—about $54,000—specified some changes in the contract that Committee was not prepared to make. "We're trying to resolve the differences," said Township Administrator Joseph Nini.

A bikepath extension through the north side park, estimated by Committee to cost about $25,000, drew a bid of $38,000. "We're going to have to go back to our consultant to see where we went wrong," said Mr. Nini.

Committee also postponed, for at least several weeks, a decision on whether or not to pave portions of Herrontown and Poor Farm roads. A petition requesting paving of those roads has been submitted to the Township.

Mr. Nini explained that, since the master plan for that area is being revised, "the Committee would like the benefit of the planning board's advice before deciding if those roads should be paved, and if so, to what standard."

Next Meeting July 5. Another petition, submitted by residents bothered by flash floods in the area south of Riverside School, was referred by Committee to the Flood Control Commission.

Committee passed an ordinance authorizing pay increases of five percent this year and 5½ percent next year for the police. It also authorized allocation of $86,000 of state and federal funds, and $7,900 of county funds, for operation of the Corner House youth center.

Township Committee will follow its regular schedule in July, meeting on the first three Wednesdays of the month.

CONSULTANT SOUGHT
For Bridge Study. Princeton Township this week was still trying to enlist the services of a consultant to study the feasibility of repairing the crumbling bridge over Stony Brook on Mercer Road.

"We've got it pretty much narrowed down, and we're expecting a proposal soon from one consultant," said Joseph Nini, Township administrator.

Even as the search continued, however, Township officials worried that the county might renege on a previous promise to pay for the services of two consultants—one chosen by the county and one by the Township. County Executive Arthur Sypek was reported to have made such a promise two weeks ago. Last week the county administrator, Daniel Mennella, was quoted as saying the county could not justify two separate studies of the bridge.

The bridge, constructed in 1809, was closed to traffic May 30 after county engineers deemed it unsafe. Various Township officials, as well as the Princeton Historical Society, have argued that efforts should be made to restore the existing bridge, making it—in effect—an antique but still functional structure.

The county public works department favors replacement of the bridge, a process

A. Hartfield, 54, a Somerville

High School teacher, was killed last week when his car collided with another on Route 206 in Montgomery Township not far from the County Line Inn.

Mr. Hartfield had been living with his son in Windsor Castle Apartments in East Windsor and had been planning to retire to his farm near Bloomsburg, Pa. He had taught social studies for 25 years, his son reported.

He was alone in his car at the time, as was the second driver, Mrs. Katherine Logan, 51, of Califon, who was seriously injured. Both were operating small cars.

Police said that Mr. Hartfield's car apparently crossed the center line around 4:30 Thursday afternoon and crashed head-on with the Logan car.

Motorcycle Mishaps. There were two accidents last week in the Township involving motorcycle drivers.

Alfred R. Van Liew, 27, of Brockton, Mass., was rounding a curve on a bridge on the Princeton-Kingston Road Saturday afternoon when the front wheel of his motorcycle began to vibrate. He lost control.

His cycle hit the bridge curb, then the front end of a car stopped at the intersection of River Road and the curb again, before falling down. He was treated at Princeton Medical Center for back lacerations.

The stopped car was operated by Clement E.

Baldwin, 81 Washington Street, Rocky Hill.

Friday at 10:30, 19-year old Michael Marcantonio, 88 Valley Road, lost control of his motorcycle on Cherry Hill Road between Cherry Valley and Ridgeview roads. He was taken by friends to the Medical Center for treatment of a shoulder injury.

Ptl. David Cromwell investigated. There were no charges in either accident.

This fine gentleman lived in Princeton for over 60 years, the last six with us at the Peacock Inn. On July 10, 1978 he will be 100 years old, and deserves recognition for a feat few of us will accomplish. Still alert and cheerful, he needs to know that Princeton people remember him.

In several instances nothing was taken, and in another a cash register was ignored, leading police to believe the entries are possibly the work of juveniles.

The most recent entry was reported Monday night at 11:58. Between then and 2:30 in the afternoon, an outside cellar door of an Evelyn Place home was forced open. The intruder proceeded up the stairwell and forced a kitchen door to enter the home, but police report nothing was taken.

The same evening at 11:11, a Linden Lane resident called police to report that someone had entered her home through a side window between 10:15 and 11 while she was in a second floor bedroom.

A pocketbook containing $45 and a $10 check was taken from the living room. The victim called police Tuesday morning to report her stolen check book and credit cards had been placed in her mailbox.

The Country Mouse was entered during the weekend by a thief who forced a rear door but left a cash register untouched. Nothing was taken. The entry was discovered Monday morning.

A burglar alarm in a Hawthorne Avenue home sounded at 12:20 Monday morning but because the owner had been experiencing problems with the alarm, he turned it off without checking.

Ten minutes later, police reported, he discovered his rear patio sliding door was open. A check with Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. Victor Fasanella revealed that nothing was taken.

Jefferson Road was the next stop. A resident called police at 2:32 Sunday morning to report an entry through an unlocked window on the north side. Taken from a bedroom was a wallet containing $1.50 in stamps.

The wallet was later

Hospital Defers Request for 30 More Beds But Says Move Is to Patients' Detriment

The Princeton Medical Center has "reluctantly agreed" to defer until August a request to expand its capacity by 30 beds. John W. Kauffman, president of the Medical Center, made that decision after meeting last Friday with Dr. Joanne E. Finley, state commissioner of health.

The state previously had rejected the hospital's expansion plans. Dr. Finley said the state would re-consider its rejection if Mr. Kauffman would delay his request until August. Last week he did just that, after receiving assurances from the commissioner that the application would be considered at the August 25 meeting of the State Health Planning and Coordinating Council, and that she would "make a final and prompt decision" following that meeting.

Mr. Kauffman stated that construction costs were escalating $10,000 a month, and that the delay until August would drive the Medical Center's costs up another $20,000. The initial cost estimate of the project was $1.2 million.

In an advertisement on page 9B of this week's TOWN TOPICS, Mr. Kauffman presented "a progress report" to "thousands of residents" of the Medical Center's service area "who supported, by letter, telegram and phone calls, our critical need for 30 additional medical and surgical beds to safely serve you." The Medical Center president pointed out that the medical and surgical census of the hospital was in excess of 100 percent occupancy in June, and that the hospital was forced to use 12 beds located in its solariums.

"Patients' Detriment." While the state reviews the hospital's application, Mr. Kauffman added, "our patients continue to be rescheduled to their detriment, both emotionally and financially."

The state earlier had rejected Princeton's application because of a state law prohibiting the expansion of one hospital if other hospitals in the same area have occupancy rates of less than 90 percent. In 1977, the average occupancy of Helene Fuld Hospital in Trenton was 85.6 percent. The rate at St. Francis Hospital in Trenton was 89.3 percent. State health officials estimate that one empty bed costs hospitals $50,000 a year.

Both Trenton hospitals are seeking permission to renovate their facilities, and they may be asked to reduce their capacity to allow Princeton to expand. The administrators of these hospitals say they will oppose such a move—further complicating the deliberations of the council that will meet August 25.

recovered on the Princeton High School campus. The only thing missing, police commented, were the stamps.

A wallet containing $3 was removed from a kitchen table in a Moore Street home which was entered between 1 and 8:30 Saturday morning. The kitchen door had been forced, police said.

Earlier in the week, a wallet with $17 inside was taken from the living room of a Linden Lane home and recovered the next day on the high school campus. The wallet itself was valued at $50. There were no signs of forced entry.

Attempted Entries. Police also listed attempted entries which were unsuccessful at Miss Mason's School, 53 Bayard Lane; a home on Hamilton Avenue, where a kitchen screen had been pried out, and another home on Moore Street. In the latter, a kitchen screen had been opened and a plant knocked over but no entry was gained.

There was also an attempted entry at the Coin Wash, 259 Nassau Street.

Police said an intruder was unsuccessful in an attempt to saw through a coin box of a pants pressing machine.

BOOKLET COMPLETED

On Services for Students. Can my child qualify for additional assistance in Princeton's public schools? What rights does my child have according to federal and state laws? Which programs are available locally?

These and other related questions are dealt with extensively in "Student Services in the Princeton Public Schools," a recent publication of the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area. It is one of the products of a three-year project conducted by the League's School Study Committee.

The editors, Chrystal Schivell and Sharon Tomalin report that the publication is a compendium of practical information for those interested in the scope and nature of supplemental instruction given in Princeton public schools. It includes an overview of past and present Student Services and is not they say, intended to be either a definitive statement of future services or a League evaluation.

The booklet examines pertinent federal and state laws as well as pending legislation which might affect Student Services. The budgetary implications of these services are presented, both in the present and in the projected future.

Those interested in supplemental instruction available in Princeton public schools may request a free copy by calling School Study Chairman Myrna Jenkins at 921-7126 or Membership Chairman Joan Huggins at 921-1283.

The League of Women Voters will continue its School Study program and welcomes new members. For further information on this study committee or on joining the League is available from either of these members.

Recognition will be given to members of the three fire companies for their continuous years of service, which ranges from 30 to 50 years.

From Hook & Ladder Fire Company, James Pace will be recognized for 50 years of service and William M. Toole for 40 years; from Mercer Engine Co. No. 3, Charles Stryker, 40 years; Laurence Patterson, 35 years; and Nelson Davison, 30 years; and from Engine Company No. 1, William J. Guinn, 45 years; William Whalley, 40 years; and Robert Higgins, 30 years.

MEDIEVAL NIGHT SET
As School Benefit. The Princeton Child Development Institute will hold a Medieval celebration as a fund raising benefit on Saturday, September 23, at 7 in the Boychoir School on Lambert Drive. Medieval feasting, music, merry-making and entertainers are planned.

Pamela Machold is the chairman, assisted by Peggy Pulleyn, Judy Rulon-Miller and Carroll Bever.

The Princeton Child Development Institute is a private, non-profit day school at 527 Stockton Street which provides a broad range of data-based programs for autistic and emotionally disturbed children. The purpose and goal of the program is to give each child the individual treatment necessary to help him develop to his fullest potential.

P.C.D.I. has opened Family Focus at 4 Elmridge Road, a family-oriented residence and treatment center for five autistic and emotionally disturbed boys who also attend the school. This is a pilot project, the first community-based residence of its kind in New Jersey and one of the first in the country.

For further information about the Medieval evening call Mrs. Machold, 921-2627. For further information about P.C.D.I. call Dr. Krantz or Dr. McClannahan at 924-6240.

PURSE SNATCH FAILS

Suspect Charged. Philip G. White, 25, 110 Witherspoon Street, has been charged with attempted robbery and released on $500 bail, after he allegedly attempted to snatch a woman's purse on Witherspoon Street.

The victim, a 32-year visitor from Piscataway, accompanied by two other women, told police at 12:45 Sunday morning that a man has just attempted to grab her purse in front of the Alchemist & Barrister Restaurant. Unsuccessful in his attempt, he had fled north on Witherspoon.

The victim was able to give police a good description of the suspect and a few minutes later he was apprehended by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. William Hunter at Witherspoon and Wiggins. The victim did identify the suspect, police said.

TWO CHARGES LODGED

Against Borough Man. Charges of attempted larceny and creating a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol have been lodged by Borough police against William Skillman, 25, 53 Harriet Drive.

Det. Ronald Holliday and

Ptl. Glenn Stanton responded to a 9:58 call Monday night that a man was down at the Ivy Inn on Nassau Street where Mr. Skillman had fallen and struck his head. He was taken to Princeton Medical Center with a large contusion of the forehead but doctors there refused to treat him when he became belligerent.

Police said Mr. Skillman had allegedly tried to take a customer's change from the bar and was asked to leave. He was later released at 12:15 in the morning, after being issued a summons signed by Det. Holliday.

ID CARDS MAILED

For Half-Fare Program. The Department of Transportation has mailed new identification cards to the 430,000 elderly and handicapped citizens enrolled in the New Jersey Reduced Fare Transportation Program. The cards, beige in color, have an expiration date of June 30, 1982, and replace the cards that expire at the end of this month.

Elderly and handicapped enrollees in the program may ride on all intrastate bus and Conrail routes and most interstate bus and Conrail routes into New York and Pennsylvania at a reduced fare.

The hours are all day Saturday, Sunday and state holidays, and weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. To ride at reduced rates, riders must show the bus driver a reduced fare identification card, pay half the fare and give the driver one reduced fare ticket.

Senior citizens, 62 age or older, who are not enrolled may apply at any New Jersey bank, savings and loan association or County Office on Aging. Applicants must have proof of age and Social Security number when enrolling. Reduced fare tickets also may be obtained free at any New Jersey bank or savings and loan association.

No Pennies. Participants may ride at half the regular one-way fare adjusted downward to the nearest five cents. If, for example, a one-way fare is 40 cents, the enrollee pays 20 cents and the State pays 20 cents. If the one-way fare is 45 cents, the enrollee still pays 20 cents and the State pays 25.

The State pays approximately $4 million annually in reimbursements to privately-owned transportation carriers who participate in the program.

Handicapped persons under 62, regardless of residency, may enroll by writing for a physician's application to the

Bees Bother Painter, Who Uses Torch, Which Starts Fire in Historic House

A painter's torch directed at a beehive in an attic has been blamed as the cause of a fire that tied up Nassau Street Friday and damaged an historic house.

The attic and rooms on the third floor of the home at 298 Nassau Street—built in the 1830s by Princeton architect Charles Steadman—were damaged by smoke and fire, according to Princeton Fire Chief Ted Kopp. There was also some water damage to the first and second floors.

A painter working near the roof apparently used his paint-removing torch to destroy a bees' nest in an attic vent. The hive burst into flames which spread to wooden beams in the attic. No estimate has been made of the damage.

Firemen from Engine Companies No. 1 and No. 3 Hook and Ladder, which responded to the 11:50 a.m. general alarm, had to battle the blaze from inside the house. The fire was very hot and smoky, Chief Kopp commented.

The house is owned by Mrs. Louise Billings.

The half-fare service began on September 10, 1973 enabling New Jersey residents, 62 and older to ride at half-fare on buses and jitneys during off-peak hours on regular routes within the State. On March 1, 1976, the program was expanded to provide reduced fares for handicapped persons under 62 and for all senior citizens regardless of residency on intrastate buses, commuter railroads and many interstate bus routes to adjacent states.

ORIENTAL RUGS STOLEN

From Church Alter. Three Oriental rugs were stolen last week from the alter at Trinity Church.

One rug, 9-by-5-feet, was owned by the church; the other two, 4x8 and 4x6, by the church rector. Police have not received a value on them.

An employee of La Shack, 20 Nassau Street, told police Friday that her yellow wallet containing $5 to $25 had been stolen from the rear of the store, and $13 was removed from a wallet and $24 from an envelope in a desk drawer in an unlocked room in Witherspoon Hall on the university campus.

Between last December and this month, a $150 air conditioner was removed from a basement at 25 Wiggins Street.

$425 from Laundry Machines. Township police report that between $400 and $425 in quarters and dimes were stolen last week from coin boxes in four washing machines and two dryers in the laundry room of Hibben Apartments off Faculty Road.

"It appears as if a key was used," said Chief Frederick Porter. He also reported the attempted larceny from the coin box of a washing machine at Lawrence Apartments on West Road. Both housing complexes are owned by Princeton University.

In the latter, an attempt was made to pry open the coin box. Police have a suspect, said Chief Porter, who added the investigation was being continued by Det. Norman Servis.

Van Entered. A cassette player, CB radio, two suitcases, clothing and other items with a combined value of $390 were stolen last week from the parked van of Rodney Caldwell, 31 Juniper Row. Police said someone forced a vent window to enter the van between 1 and 6:30 in the morning.

A Stanworth Drive resident left his trousers hanging on a hook in a changing room last week at Community Park pool while he went swimming and left his wallet in one of the pockets. When he returned, it was missing along with $22.

Last week, a window was broken to allow an intruder to reach in and unlock the rear garage door of Taylor Rental, 775 State Road.

The interior of the store and repair shop area were ransacked, police report, and electric tools left lying around, but they have not received a report of anything missing. They placed the entry between 3:10 and 7:30 Thursday morning.

WINNER ANNOUNCED

Of Dollhouse Raffle.

Ricardo A. Mestres of 96 Battle Road, financial vice-president and treasurer of Princeton University, emeritus, is the winner of the Georgian style dollhouse raffled as a benefit for the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council. Henry S. Patterson, president of MSM, pulled the winning ticket out of a revolving drum in a ceremony last week at Princeton Savings and Loan.

The dollhouse was created by 22 volunteers enlisted by H. Cobbles Sturhahn, who conceived the project as a way of raising money for MSM and publicizing its efforts in housing, transportation, land use and preservation of farm land in a trip-county area. The dollhouse stands five feet high by three feet long and has a brick exterior and a slate roof. Inside it is fully furnished with Chippendale furniture, electric lights, petit-point rugs original oil paintings and curtains—all made by the committee of 22.

Second prize was a shadow box room, also meticulously furnished, which went to Pat Smith of Monmouth Junction. According to Mary B. Rice, executive director of MSM, some 6,349 tickets were sold at $1 apiece. There were some additional contributions and there were some expenses, and the net proceeds came to $5,700.

"We're very happy about it," said Mrs. Rice, who praised Princeton Savings for publicizing and displaying the house and the many people

FIVE ARE PROMOTED
Two Added to Police Force.
In Princeton Township police department's largest single promotion, three new lieutenants, two new sergeants and two probationary officers were sworn in Tuesday afternoon by Administrator Joseph R. Nini at ceremonies held in Township Hall.

While a member of each officer's family held the Bible, Mr. Nini read the oath as friends looked on.

Promoted to the rank of lieutenant were John F. Petrone, Norman F. Servis and Anthony M. Pinelli; to sergeant, John W. Hammond and Samuel F. Bianco. Their selection was the result of written examinations conducted by the New Jersey State Chiefs of Police examination committee and further testing and interviews by the Township Police Committee comprised of Mr. Nini, Mayor Josie Hall, who also serves as Police Commissioner; and Chief Frederick Porter.

"I feel those selected are deserving and qualified," commented Chief Porter. "I feel they will do an excellent job in their new positions."

Named as Probationary Patrol Officers from a group of 104 applicants were Mark V. Emann, 20, of Province Line Road, son of Ptl. Walter V. Emann, a 23-year veteran of the Township Police Department, and Virgil M. Angelini, 26, Gloucester Lane, Trenton. Their selection by the Police Committee was unanimous.

A 23-year veteran, Lt. Servis joined the Township department in February, 1955. He was promoted to the rank of Detective-Sergeant in May, 1968, and has been a member of the Detective Bureau ever since. A Princeton resident, he has a son, Norman Jr. and a daughter.

Two months later in April, 1955, Lt. Petrone joined the force. He was promoted to sergeant in April, 1961.

Upon the retirement of Lt. Richard V. Steiner in November last year, he was appointed Acting Lieutenant. A standout athlete while in the service, Lt. Petrone has five sons, all active in sports. He is a Princeton resident.

of Princeton High School and a 16-year veteran, Lt. Pinelli joined the department in December, 1961. Seven years later, he was named Juvenile Officer and placed in command of the newly-formed Juvenile Bureau. He was promoted to Sergeant in 1971.

Lt. Pinelli is a resident of Montgomery Township. He has a son, Peter, and two daughters.

Sgt. Bianco joined the force in December, 1959. He was assigned, in 1968, to the Detective Bureau, on the basis of his knowledge and ability. He and his wife and four children live in Princeton. One of his outside interests is photography.

A member of the 69th Police Training Class at Sea Girt, Sgt. Hammond joined the force in June, 1962. He recently obtained a degree in law enforcement.

He and his wife and two children, Mickey and Kathy, live in Princeton.

As the Twig Is Bent... Officer Emann is a Princeton High graduate and is attending Mercer County Community College, where he is studying law enforcement. His father, Ptl. Walter V. Emann, joined the Township force in 1955. The new officer lives with his parents on Province Line Road.

TWO CLASSES PLANNED
By Family Service. The Family Service Agency of Princeton is offering two summer programs which will focus attention on individual self-exploration and growth. "My Mother and Me" will explore the mother-daughter knot through group discussion and structured exercises. Together, group members will attempt to answer the question: How much of who I am now is influenced by that life? This group will meet two Monday Evenings, June 19 and June 26 from 7 to 10 under the leadership of Linda Meisel, MSW, and Kay Boals, Ph.D.

"Taking Care of Me" is the title of a program which deals with learning to take time and energy for oneself. This group will use experiential exercises and between-session assignments to help a person restructure his or her life and thinking. Two four-week sessions are being offered: Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30, beginning July 11 and Thursday mornings, 9:30 to 11:30, beginning July 6. Ms. Boals will be group leader.

Both groups will be held at the Family Service Agency, 120 John Street. For further information or registration the call the agency at 924-2098.

Action on Garage Needed.
To The Editor of Town Topics:
Looks like everybody in town knows how to solve our parking problems. Suddenly, we've all become experts! Build a two-story garage, put it underground, don't put it at Witherspoon-Spring, don't put it near the Library, build two smaller garages, etc., etc.
Mayor and Council have listened to all the suggestions, and acted to correct many of the problems inherent in the original plan for a parking garage. A good plan has evolved, now let's let them get on with a job they were elected to do and stop all this quibbling. Otherwise, we'll still be talking about a parking garage in 1985 and our downtown will look like downtown New Brunswick.

A Traveler's Tale.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
A Traveler came to Princeton in the spring of 1988. It was a beautiful town, with the ivied campus of the University on one side of its main street, and attractive offices and shops on the other side. Just beyond its historic Nassau Inn and classic Palmer Square was the Public Library, on Witherspoon Street, at the edge of an interesting complex called Nassau Court.

The Traveler learned from passer-by that the Court had been created on the sites of two parking lots. In the center of the larger lot was a lovely fountain, surrounded with flowers and greenery, with slate walks leading to clusters of town houses and shops. On the smaller lot were apartments, designed around a small park.

"If these were parking lots," asked the Traveler, "what happened to the cars?"

"They're underground," came the reply. And the Traveler learned how, for years, the people in the town thought there was no hope for parking cars underground, because of the existence of Harry's Brook and other springs below the surface, which apparently made such construction an engineering impossibility.

But Princeton is filled with engineers and physicists and other bright people who refused to believe that underground parking was impossible. They launched an in-depth investigation of Harry's Brook and other underground waters. Drawing on their knowledge and ingenuity, they brought the streams under control. In building the underground parking garage, they channeled Harry's Brooks into a fountain and piped the other waters into an underground car wash.

"But wasn't all that expensive?" inquired the Traveler.

"Of course," came the answer. "Everything in Princeton is expensive." But the shops and town houses and apartments, the Traveler discovered, generate considerable revenue for the Municipal Government (years ago there were two Governments, Township and Borough - rather absurd, the Traveler thought), and the income from the underground garage, with its car wash and other services, is substantial. Actually, the whole complex didn't cost much more than the first idea some of the town fathers had - a huge above-ground garage, five stories high, that would have cost three million dollars.

The Traveler stayed at the Nassau Inn, enjoying good food and drink and restful sleep. The next morning, checking out, the Traveler remarked to the clerks, "How fortunate you are, in this town, to have that attractive Nassau Court and the underground parking garage."

"You kidding? What underground garage?" replied the clerk. "We have five (count 'em) above-ground garages. We're the biggest above-ground-parking-garage-small-town on the Eastern seaboard."

Sadly, the Traveler paid the bill and went to Philadelphia.

Visitors Program Impressive.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Several weeks ago I had occasion to visit the firehouse on Harrison Street with my daughter's nursery school class, and I'm writing to say how impressed I was with the presentation made to the children by fireman Ralph Hulit, Jr.

The visit was, of course, very exciting for the children, with all that equipment to try out, but it also seemed extremely effective in making the children aware of fire safety and emergency responses. I think we owe the whole Fire Department some well-earned congratulations for its visitors program.

about is the unknown. A young couple bought the house and it's obvious that they won't live there alone. That's what bothers us," said Mr. Menand. Mr. Menand and others walked away from brief encounters with the Circle of Friends with the impression that the Friends are either brainwashed or programmed. If nothing else, they certainly are hard to characterize.

The Friends are followers of George Jurcsek, a 58-year-old native of Hungary who now lives in Morristown. Mr. Jurcsek's teachings are steeped in economic and political analysis, and are influenced by a wide range of other sources - from the late philosopher Rudolph Steiner to the former secretary of the treasury in the Nixon administration, William Simon.

"We've adopted a philosophy, or maybe a cliché, of health, wealth, and wisdom," explained Miss Reinauer, the personal secretary to Mr. Jurcsek, who was unavailable for comment.

"Any one of those, separated from the other two, can lead to all sorts of fanaticism or degeneration. The three in combination produce harmony," she said. "It's been reported that we have a great interest in money and the accumulation of wealth. To a certain extent that's true. But we don't believe that wealth alone can lead to a life of happiness."

The group owns a half dozen large homes in New Jersey, reportedly worth $1 million or more in total. It operates an industrial security firm, a limousine service, and is active in the stock and commodity markets, according to Miss Reinauer.

Last Saturday a Princeton University student, and member of the University Press Club, Alan Safran, went to the Morristown residence of Mr. Jurcsek to interview him for an article in the New York Daily News. The reporter later wrote that the driveway was filled with Mercedes and Cadillacs.

"That's true," said Miss Reinauer, "but he didn't point out that most of them were diesel. Because we're interested in economics we are very concerned about the possibility of a gasoline shortage. We buy oil on the commodity market, and pick it up in our own oil trucks. We can use that same oil to heat our houses and drive our cars. We're trying to get away from gasoline."

Members of the group have been accused of running up bad debts, being brainwashed and of fasting and of staying up nights on end to demonstrate their devotion to Mr. Jurcsek. Miss Reinauer said she could think of some instances where individuals within the group may have had disputes with stores or manufacturers that led to unpaid bills. "It's one small point leading to a big distortion," she said. "And we are not starving and we are hardly suffering from lack of sleep."

Unreported thus far in the newspapers, Miss Reinauer said, was the group's formation of a non-profit corporation, called Inspiration Hall, which she said will develop plans for a school for handicapped and retarded children. "We have a desire for a well-rounded experience in the world," she said. "We want to offer something back."

Miss Reinauer said the group subscribes to many of the ideas in Mr. Simon's recent book, "A Time For Truth," including warnings about the possible collapse of the economic system. "We don't think that the end of the world is coming, but we do believe that with economic troubles, political and social structures also are threatened."

The group numbers about 75 in terms of its active membership, Miss Reinauer said. As many as 1,500 people may be affiliated with it on a less formal basis.

"We are very security minded," Miss Reinauer said, explaining the group's principal business interest. "We feel that people should take steps to insure their own safety and well being." On that point, at least, the Circle of Friends and the residents of Hodge Road ought to have something in common.

PLANTS AND PRODUCE

Featured at Peterson's Nurseries and Garden Markets, Inc., is garden market, farm market, landscaping service—all under one huge roof. Three greenhouses blended together without interior walls create a seemingly endless vista of plants and hanging baskets. Outdoors, flowering shrubs, trees and evergreens are displayed in orderly rows. During the summer and fall months, farm-fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables are a special attraction.

The master of this green scene is Charles Peterson, Jr., a hard-working, enterprising man, whose interest in marketing began at the age of six, when he and his sister sold several quarts of blackberries their father had picked.

During the summer months of his high school years, Mr. Peterson had a roadside market in front of the family home, and after graduation he established the present business, which has been growing ever since. Future plans call for landscaping his acreage into unique and beautiful gardens where all outdoor plants and nursery stock can be effectively displayed.

Summer Greenery. Cool summer greenery for porches, patios and interiors can be found in great abundance—ferns, baby tears, Norfolk Island pines, ivy geraniums, vinca vines and many others.

Flowering annuals and perennials are still available for borders and beds. Spectacular hanging baskets offer many different leaf forms and blooms, including silvery green burro tails, begonias with variegated leaves and fuchsias in striking color combinations.

Mr. Peterson believes he has some of the largest hanging baskets ever produced, and has exhibited them at the New Jersey Flower Show and the Philadelphia Flower show.

The large plants—approximately four feet in diameter with a fall of six feet—are Swedish ivy, bridal veil and spider—one spider plant has over 2000 babies. Businesses in large buildings use them as decorative space fillers in foyers and lobbies, but they are grown mainly for propagation.

Mr. Peterson credits "Sea Born", a liquified seaweed,

SUMMER GREENERY makes a background for Charles Peterson, Jr., owner of Peterson's Nurseries and Garden Markets. His market features a large variety of plants and hanging baskets for porches, patios, gardens and interiors. Vegetables and fruits, grown especially for Peterson's will be offered during the summer months, beginning the first week in July.

the natural organic soil conditioner, for his success in growing his colossal hanging baskets. He believes this product is truly wonderful, revitalizing unhealthy plants and making healthy plants more prosperous than ever. Other plant care products are fertilizers, pesticides, fungicides, plant foods, potting soils and mulches in various forms.

Nursery Stock and Landscaping. Nursery stock encompasses 300 varieties of trees and shrubs. Spiraea, lilac, weigela, hydrangea and mock orange are examples of the many flowering shrubs. Evergreen shrubs include junipers, arbor-vitae and mugho pine; broadleaf evergreens include rhododendrons, andromeda and azaleas.

Evergreen trees on display are white, Austrian and Scotch pines, Norway and blue spruces, hemlocks and hollies. Shade trees, fruit trees, flowering trees and decorative trees, such as magnolias, copper beeches, golden chain, ginkgo and crimson maples are among the many popular choices.

Shopper's Alert. At Peterson's Nursery, on the Fourth of July only, nursery stock, annuals and perennials—everything on exhibit outdoors except ground covers—will be sold at half price.

Landscaping is a new service that is bringing great satisfaction to both Peterson's Nursery and its customers. Creative ideas, thorough attention to the job and reasonable prices are strong selling points, and the customer has the advantage of seeing and selecting the actual plants from Peterson's nursery stock.

In this phase of the business, as in all the others, a fine crew of helpers—some with ten years of experience, some part-time—work well together to provide friendly, courteous service.

Peterson's always has a large assortment of imported and domestic baskets in wicker, bamboo, oak splints and woven grass, and many are ideal for the summer season. You'll find sturdy baskets for garden produce, shallow baskets for gathering flowers, picnic hampers, wicker paper plate holders, bottle carriers, trays for fruit, bread or crackers. Small baskets with handles and lids make attractive handbags.

A new collection of dried flowers has just arrived and includes colored or natural statice, star flowers, timothy, fox tails, wheat, sea oats, and straw flowers. An arrangement of these natural materials is everlasting as is the pleasure it brings.

Farm-fresh Produce. Peterson's Nursery is a member of the New Jersey Certified Farm Market Association and adheres to its strict code of ethics. Farm-fresh produce will be offered during the summer and fall months, beginning the first week in July.

Tomatoes, corn, peaches, cantelopes are special summer treats; apples, cider, Indian corn, pumpkins and gourds are favorites in the fall. Polaner makes jams, jellies, preserves, fruit butters and marmalades especially for Peterson's, and many varieties of honey are stocked.

Peterson's Nurseries and Garden Markets, Inc., is located on Route 206 between Princeton and Lawrenceville. Charles Peterson, Jr. is president; his daughter, Liz Peterson, is vice-president. Store hours are 9-6, Monday through Saturday; 9-5 Sunday.

STUDIO 12 SELECTIONS

Gifts, Wicker, Jewelry. A return to elegance and formality in dress, jewelry, home furnishings and entertaining is predicted by Johanna Wood, who with her husband, Ron, owns Studio 12. Inflation has made customers more conservative and selective. Purchases are investments, chosen for excellence in design, lasting value and their contribution to gracious living.

Attuned to current demands, Studio 12 searches out fine quality items of unusual charm in a wide price range. A hountiful collection of wicker and rattan furniture, jewelry, gourmet items, tableware, glassware, pewter, decorative accessories and gifts has been assembled to appeal to the most discriminating tastes.

Jewelry. Studio 12's jewelry is outstanding in originality and sophistication, with gold and diamonds the latest fashion emphasis. Designer pieces in 18 karat gold, imported from Belgium are the epitome of elegance as shown by a gold band bracelet with an oblique strip of pave diamonds and a neck chain with a spiral pendant encrusted with small diamonds.

Other gold and diamond pieces include a 14 karat gold bracelet made of gracefully designed flat links set with small diamonds in groups of three and rings that are twists of gold loops set with pave diamonds.

Pearls are making a comeback as part of the trend to elegance. Long strings of natural or colored pearls and pearl bracelets and earrings are on display. A showpiece of contemporary design is a wide gold band ring in 14 karat gold holding an oblong cage with a moving pearl inside.

Studio 12 has instituted a new service to meet the interest and need of its customers for custom designed jewelry and the resetting of old stones in simpler and more effective settings. One very welcome facet of this service is the designing of a matching earring to replace one that has been lost.

Wicker and Rattan Furniture. Wicker has brought its informal grace to porches and gazebos for years; rattan furniture has long been a favorite for family rooms and garden rooms. Given the sound construction and design styling of fine furniture, both are moving into more formal areas of the home. Here again, the trend to formality is apparent as pieces become sleek, elegant and comfortable with upholstered backs and seats.

The extensive collection at Studio 12 ranges from informal painted white wicker in a settee, armchair and coffee table to a lacquered burnt rattan table with glass top and four straight chairs in a graceful design.

Chests, etageres, armchairs, headboards and screens in a variety of designs offer looks, comfort and durability. Decorative pieces include bird cages, hanging shelves, lamps, baskets, mirrors, planters and stacking stools used for seating, tables and plant stands.

Wicker furniture can be painted in the customer's choice of color and glass tops for tables can be supplied.

Time at Your Fingertips

The man who has everything is in danger of losing his title unless he owns an Audocron.

An Audocron? It's a quartz crystal chime clock, the latest in electronic wizardry that can be seen at Viking Furniture, 259 Nassau Street.

It tells time but does so with a flair. It has no hands, no numbers, nothing. Shaped like a silver mushroom, 3½ inches high and 5 inches in diameter, the Audocron is activated by a person's touch. One hears the exact time as a group of chimes. The first group indicates the hour, the second group — higher pitched — indicates the ten minutes and the final group, lower pitched again, the minutes.

With each chime, Audocron emits a band of light. For example, after touching the dome, if one hears 10 chimes, then two higher pitched ones, then four more, the exact time is 10:24.

In addition, Audocron chimes automatically on the hour. It is accurate to within one minute per year and runs for nine months on one 9-volt battery.

The price for this fascinating—and it is fascinating—clock: $180. And the man who has everything need not fear; he can still maintain his exclusiveness by ordering the model available in gold.

Accessories and Gifts. Charm and distinction can be brought to summer entertaining with white dinnerware — centered with a brown seashell, or displaying flowering plants and insects. Serve coffee or Irish coffee in Colbraz mugs and glasses, in handled brass holders with copper trim. Copper chafing dishes, fondues, and crepe skillets by Spring of Switzerland, present appetizers, entree or desserts with a dramatic flourish.

Orrefors' art in glass form is shown as figurines and decorative pieces; Sweden's Kosta Boda crystal designs in stemware, vases and serving pieces are pleasing on display and a delight to use.

Svend Jensen's handsome Danish stemware, pitchers and mixers are also very popular. Colony produces well-designed, popularly-priced barware, cheese covers and a punch bowl with cups.

Royal Holland pewter in traditional designs and a soft silvery finish is shown in vases, candlesticks, plates, bowls, soup tureens and mugs. Complete tea services are selling briskly, another indication of the trend toward formal entertaining.

Nettle Creek's beautiful pillows are shown in a wide assortment of designs — appliqued or embroidered, batik or animal prints, designs raised by trapunto, or pillows shaped like owls and droll figures.

Nettle Creek also makes a collection called "Gallery Classics," animals and figures in a lightweight material with the look of carved wood, which is exclusive with Studio 12.

Pat Meier creates wall hangings and plant hangers of many macrame weaves. Her macrame headboard is a masterpiece of artistic endeavor.

Studio 12 is located in the Montgomery Shopping Center, State Highway 206 and Route 518 at Rocky Hill. Johanna and Ron Wood are the owners. Summer hours are Monday through Saturday, 10-6.

Book by Former Princetonian Tells How to Make Big Money in Stocks

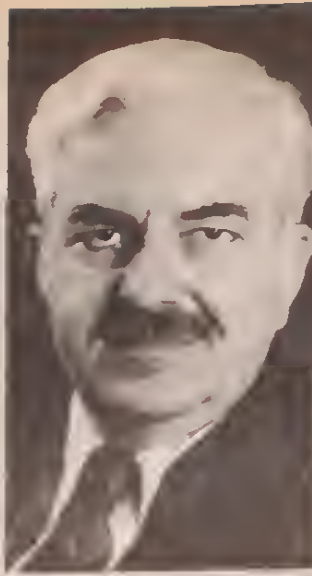

"The great thing about this investment was that it wasn't luck, it wasn't a game. I had spent years looking for a method that would yield up just this kind of stock on a regular basis (without selecting losers along the way)."

For those who enjoy investing in the stock market and will accept that quote as valid, there is a book written by former Princeton resident Lowell Miller that promises to make its readers plenty of money.

"The Momentum-Gap Method" (G.P. Putnam's Sons, $15) as devised by Mr. Miller is based on the premise that price is the indicator of stock activity, that it reflects all information currently available, and that it also reflects what the experts think about that information. The price, charted over time, shows if a stock is a hot one — or a potential lemon.

Mr. Miller shows the reader what to look for in picking a potential winner, or a potential loser (for selling short). His basic theory rests on the premise that a stock about to make a major move in either direction will show a gap in its price range. For an up stock "a valid gap must have a low that is higher than the high of the previous week."

This gap must then be considered in the light of other information, "momentum formation"

Eleven Wren Associates' First Aid and Rescue Squad is making an appeal throughout the New York harbor area during the five-day event.

PROVINCE HILL RISES

Off Lawrenceville Road. "Province Hill," a 34-unit housing cluster, is now under construction in the vicinity of Lawrence and Fackler roads.

According to John T. Henderson, exclusive broker for the development, the roads are nearly completed and six houses are under construction for occupancy in the fall. Three model homes are open for inspection.

The 34 homes occupy a 50-acre site with tennis courts and entrance on a private road. Architectural plans are available at 4 Charlton Street, and appointments for a visit may be made by calling 921-2776.

APPEAL ISSUED

By First Aid Unit. Princeton's First Aid and Rescue Squad is making an appeal business and industry.

In a letter to the presidents of corporations and other potential benefactors, Mark Freda, president of the squad, tells the area's leaders, "We need money and manpower, that is, occasional daytime employee availability, if we are to continue serving voluntarily the vital needs of all the people on a round-the-clock basis."

"The squad's time is free," he continues, "and so are its services, but our operational and maintenance costs are sky high. Fortunately, our equipment is the best available. We can handle any emergency."

"Quite frankly, however, we need the help of all in the communities we serve. In addition, just because we are going out to the companies now, it does not preclude the much-needed donation of time or dollars from private individuals."

Mr. Freda's letter:

"Whenever or wherever you and your people need help, we'll be there. Emergencies don't wait!"

"In March of this year, for example, our volunteers answered 97 calls for aid, expending over 340 man-hours, and traveling more than 1,000 miles. Saving lives!"

"Now, we need your help in two important areas:

1) Manpower: the release of qualified employees occasionally for daytime calls so we can serve you and others on a moment's notice;

2) Money: our operating costs are going up, too!"

DIRECTOR SOUGHT

For Community Ministry. The Nassau Presbyterian Church begins this week the search for a part-time salaried director for the church's new "St. Andrew's Community Ministry." This is the name adopted by the church's crisis ministry committee for its people-to-people ministry of care for, service to, and advocacy of individuals or families who are in need and reaching out for help.

The Committee is seeking a professional-level director who has a basic interest in people and desire to help; organizational and administrative skills; some counseling skills; initiative and ability to work with volunteers; and knowledge of and ability to work with helping agencies.

The creation of the St. Andrew's Community Ministry follows a long period of study and planning by the Nassau Church Session and a number of its committees. Well over a year ago, the Session recognized the possibility of accommodating the church's entire congregational life in a partially remodeled Palmer Square building, thereby freeing the Chambers Street building, the former St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church property, for ministry to people in physical, psychological or emotional need.

In a year-long study, a special committee of Session found evidence of many basic human needs going unmet in the greater-Princeton community, but very little potential for addressing those needs effectively through a St. Andrew's Church "Mission Center." There was even less hope that such a center could attract enough financial support to offset a major portion of the operation and maintenance costs of the building.

But the concept of the St. Andrew's Ministry, a ministry addressing the unmet basic human needs did not die. In fact, two relatively new Nassau Church programs were started to meet some of these needs in 1977.

The Samaritans, a program organized in 1976 to match the caring, the abilities and the wherewithal of volunteers within Nassau Church to the needs of others in the congregation, found itself meeting about as many calls for help from the community-at-large as from within Nassau Church. And in November, Nassau Church signed a one-year lease on a one-room apartment in central Princeton to provide temporary emergency housing for people with such a need.

These two and other caring-helping ministries which have taken up increasing amounts of the ministers' time, have now evolved into the St. Andrew's Community Ministry to address the pain of those in need. The new Community Ministry expects to work closely with existing services in attempting to meet the many needs that come to the attention of the church. Those who are interested in the part-time job of director should mail responses and resumes before July 15 to St. Andrew's Community Committee, 61 Nassau Street.

BULLETIN NOTES

The children of Nassau Presbyterian Church, first through sixth grades, will lead the service Sunday at 10. They have spent nine sessions studying the parable of "The Good Samaritan" in order to prepare the morning worship service. They have written a prayer of confession and an affirmation of faith and have selected hymns and prepared a sermon, which actually is a musical version of the well-known story and is called "Sam."

The public is invited.

Clergy Column

A-Once-a-Month Column of Views and Impressions
By Members of the Princeton Clergy Association

"FOR THIS CAUSE"

By the Rev. Allen A. Gartner,
Pastor, Lutheran Church of the Messiah

June is the month of weddings and wedding anniversaries. Many people who have very tenuous or no affiliation at all come into contact with established religion through these special services. Afterward Clergymen may have noticed that wedding addresses receive a far wider audience than the bride and groom to whom the message is primarily addressed. Often the message is heard with more relaxation and greater impact by those who are already married.

As they listen to a biblical description of marriage, which is intended to be normative, some weep, their tears, however, may be of two different kinds. For some the tears are from tenderness, because their marriages are very much as described; and they are feeling the blessings of sharing their lives with their own particular spouse. For others the tears express sorrow at how far their marriages have strayed from the description being given Promises to "love honor, and to cherish" "until death do us part" or other similar promises are made in marriage ceremonies. While such vows are beautiful, they are totally unrealistic unless matched by a daily even moment by moment commitment to the relationship. Both Moses and Jesus after him said, "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife; and they shall be one flesh." (Genesis 2:24 and Matthew 5:19) God's intention for marriage is that two should become one and continue together for life.

This is not to deny that people do get divorced or that at times divorce may be a necessity. Limited provision was made for divorce in both the Old and New Testaments. It does mean, however, that marriage is intended to be life-long. It is the BETTER way, approved by both God and society. Since marriage and the marital relationship, children and the family are so important, they receive the protection of God's Word and social custom.

Clergy persons are not so naive as to think that the above standard is universally accepted. It is not! There are many sexual involvements on the part of people outside the realm of marriage. There are unmarried relationships and "simulated marriages" that are carried on without benefit of clergy. These may be motivated by all kinds of things — the desire to be sure, the fear of divorce, the unwillingness to make a life-long commitment. Not wanting to condemn and unable to condone, we find ourselves in a difficult position.

Let no one think, however, that society has become so liberated that traditional values no longer have any place. Let us clearly uphold the standard of marriage first — then "one flesh" and life together. This is the revealed will of God and protects one of the basic segments of society — MARRIAGE. Human love and sexuality are precious gifts that are best received and practiced within the framework of marriage.

Religion in Princeton

Dr. D. James Kennedy, author of "Evangelism Explosion" and senior minister of Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will speak Sunday, July 9, at 7:30 in Princeton University Chapel. The occasion is the ordination service of Kenneth Smith of 206 Loetscher Place as a Presbyterian minister in the Presbyterian Church of America, the southern Presbyterian church.

Dr. James I. McCord, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, will be the preacher Sunday at 10 in Princeton University Chapel. Dr. McCord was dean of Austin Theological Seminary in Texas from 1945-1959 before assuming his present position at Princeton. A widely recognized preacher and theologian, he is also president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational) and is a past president of the Consultation on Church Union.

Dr. James I. McCord

George E. Sweazey of 49 Park Place is the author of "The Church as Evangelist," published by Harper & Row. Dr. Sweazey is the Francis Landey Patton Professor of Homiletics, Emeritus, at Princeton Theological Seminary and has been chairman of the department of evangelism of the National Council of Churches.

"The Church as Evangelist" is described as a complete, comprehensive presentation of the nuts and bolts of evangelism. It is written especially for pastors and members of the mainline churches, where evangelism is once again a priority."

N. J. C. Vasantkumar and Mrs. Joan M. Vasantkumar of Princeton were among 16 persons commissioned as missionaries and fraternal workers by the United Christian University. He is a Presbyterian Church at a graduate of Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary where he taught in the Department of Sociology.

The Vasantkumars have been assigned to work in Indonesia, where Mr. Vasantkumar will serve on the staff of Satya Wacana Services in Somerville.

For four years, Mrs. Vasantkumar was employed as a caseworker of the Division of Youth and Family Services in Somerville.

WE PROUDLY PRESENT ON SOURLAND MOUNTAIN ONE OF THE FINEST CONTEMPORARIES IN THE PRINCETON AREA!

Sourland Mountain, one of the Princeton area's most naturally beautiful spots, is the home of several fine contemporary homes which nestle in amongst the trees and boulders taking advantage of the slopes and natural sites. But few, if any of these offer the fine features and craftsmanship, creative floor plan, and fantastic view that you will find in this very special home. Designed by one of Princeton's leading architects, thoroughly familiar with the contemporary feeling, it has been placed beautifully on a select eight acre parcel which commands the whole ridge overlooking Hillsborough Township.

Dramatic on the inside, from its slate entry foyer and hallways to its fine wood cathedral ceilings where each room has been positioned to take advantage of its own special view. There's an expansive living room with a unique hearth, dining room with access to the deck and a kitchen to behold...fully equipped even with its own desk area, preparation counter, and breakfast nook with a neat view. Versatility is the key word for the family room wing which can also be used as a completely separate unit for guests or an in-law arrangement. There's a good sized family room there, a separate efficiency kitchen, and a master bedroom suite with its own bath.

Downstairs, protected by the extremes of weather by the hillside, are four marvelous bedrooms, each with its own view, and includes another master suite with its own bath. There's also a large workshop, a laundry area, and plenty of storage space with closets built-in everywhere.

Additional features include central air conditioning, custom indirect lighting, built-in bookcases and cabinets throughout, and a sensational in-ground swimming pool with a natural stone patio surrounding it.

Come see it with a Firestone Agent...you'll love it!

Off the front entry is a sunny living room with fireplace, flanked by windows underscored by window seats. Shelves on either side of the doorway and recently painted panelling create a charming room. The shelved den has French doors which open out to a private terrace where there's a pebbled garden bed - a perfect spot for house plants to spend the summer.

The gracious dining room would easily house a banquet sized table and also opens to the terrace.

A friendly feeling kitchen/family/dining room with well planned work areas, a laundry and powder room and back stairway complete the first floor.

On the second floor is a large master bedroom with gaily papered bath. Guest bedroom, two more bedrooms, hall bath and another large bedroom and bath over the kitchen.

On the third floor is a bright playroom or bedroom and bath. Two-car detached garage.

A beautifully landscaped property in a quiet location.

TREAT YOURSELF TO THE BEST!

A spacious manor house of stone and frame on an estate setting nine wooded acres sloping back to Stony Brook - unique among Princeton homes.

Gracious entry hall, formal step-down living room with fireplace, interesting library with cathedral ceiling and exposed beams, hide-away playroom, music room or maid's room with adjoining bath - all are charming. But the heart of the house is the marvelous "country kitchen" with its informal sitting space around the fireplace and pleasant eating area. The working kitchen with cooking island was custom designed by its gourmet owner! Bright sunny, opening out to terrace, pool and woods - this is a room to live in!

Master suite, three other second floor bedrooms, a total of five baths (two with oversized tubs) and high on the third floor, with its own outside staircase and cedar deck, a light filled studio.

If you are looking for a spacious country home, with quality workmanship, materials and design in every feature, this is one to see and admire!

Now reduced to $295,000

A HOUSE FOR ALL SEASONS

is this large rambling story and a half in a most prestigious section.

Four king-sized bedrooms, nearly new celery carpeting and custom drapery throughout the spacious living areas, and two flagstone patios from which to view the woodsy acre and a half.

If you are interested in quality construction, you can't afford to miss this one. It's irreplaceable.

Now just $115,000

The entrance foyer is large and welcoming; the living room has a brick-wall fireplace that's truly unique, and large sliding glass doors to the flagstone patio. The dining room has a charming window seat, and a door to the brick patio. The family room, with its warm panelling, is lined with bookcases and storage. The large, country-style kitchen has an eat-in area beside the fireplace, a center island, a planning desk and more. There are three bedrooms, including the master bedroom, and two baths. The house is designed for comfortable living and entertaining - inside and out. $122,000

Almost in the country, is the feeling you'll get when you visit this custom-built contemporary near Griggstown. The house is practically maintenance-free, with a partly-brick exterior. On the inside, the large entry has a slate floor, the living room has a floor-to-ceiling brick fireplace. The kitchen is modern & beautifully arranged; off the kitchen is a laundry and mud room suitable for a dinette. 3 bedrooms and 2 baths are on the same level. In the basement is another fireplace, and shelves. A porch runs across the back of the house, while a covered patio will also be enjoyed. $92,000

This lovely ranch-style house is perfect for a couple who enjoy entertaining with graciousness. The spacious living room has a fireplace and two picture windows with window seats. The library has a handsome stone floor, another fireplace, mahogany panelling, built-in bookcases, and three picture windows. To round out your entertaining pleasures, there is a large patio leading to a beautiful pool. The setting is priceless; the entrancing Tall Timbers area. But descriptions are not enough - this house must be seen to be fully appreciated. $169,500

Children from This Area Aid in Study on Effects of Television On Youth, with Emphasis on Violence and Sex Role Stereotyping

What are the effects of television on the behavior and attitudes of children? To what extent do school age children think of themselves and others as having abilities that lead to achievement?

These are two of the thrusts in research in child development currently under way at Princeton University's psychology department. They are the questions behind a series of studies for which Princeton area children are being actively recruited by flyers distributed at Community Park Pool and by ads in TOWN TOPICS.

Diane Ruble, an associate professor who teaches developmental psychology, has received a grant from the National Science Foundation to assess the impact of television programming on the attitudes and behavior of children. Joel Cooper, a colleague who teaches social psychology, is coordinating the studies with her. They are interested primarily in learning more about the effects of violence on children and also of sex role stereotyping.

Developmental Approach. According to Ms. Ruble, there has been a shift in emphasis in research psychology from the social learning theory which says that attitudes and behaviors are learned by imitation and observation and which focuses on parents as the primary models or socializing agents, to that which focuses on the child "as an active processor of social information, seeking values or guidelines for appropriate behavior."

"You may be missing the boat," she says, "by looking just at the parents. Schools, comic books and the media are also sources of information and it is important to know how the child is processing the information he is acquiring." Thus her research intertwines social development with cognitive development and hypothesizes that "the effects of television on children's social behaviors cannot be evaluated independently from the developmental level of the child, and that attempting to do so may lead to erroneous conclusions and inconsistent results."

Research into the effects of televised aggression is a case in point, according to Ms. Ruble. This is probably the most vigorously explored area of television's impact and yet little consensus has been reached. One large body of research findings based on the social learning theory leads to the conclusion that observing a filmed model acting in an aggressive way will prompt the viewer to act aggressively. Another body of research reports opposite results. Ms. Ruble thinks an important factor in the contradictory findings may be the age of the "children" in each of the studies and that to generalize from the subject population in either of the studies to the behavior of children-in-general may be a mistake.

Age-related Differences. Older children, she thinks, seem to be better able than young ones to take into consideration an actor's intentions and motivations. Also, the ability to separate fact from fantasy which develops with age may be an important element in the difference between televised aggression and aggression in the viewer. Studies have shown that pre-school children recall only the consequences of violent television programs, whereas older children recall both the consequences and the motives behind the violence.

Then, too, developmental changes in the awareness of social rules governing aggressive behavior would lead one to expect age-related changes in the effects of viewing violence on children's behavior. In her research proposal, Ms. Ruble writes that "Blanket statements about the effect of television on children-in-general may be unwarranted and counterproductive. On the other hand, knowledge of the developmental characteristics of the viewing audience of particular programs can lead to more appropriate and functional policies which can be utilized by the television industry."

Sex Role Information. The developmental aspect seems to be especially important in studies of sex roles. There comes a point at around age 5, says Ms. Ruble, when a child not only recognizes that he or she is a boy or a girl, but also that this is an immutable fact for life. Before that time, a child will label himself a boy or a girl but not have a sense that it will go on forever.

In one study that Ms. Ruble and her colleagues conducted, a cartoon ad for a toy TV viewer—selected as a neutral item which both boys and girls would play with—was shown to children in different stages of "gender awareness." In one showing, two boys were playing with the toy while a male announcer described its charms; another cartoon had two girls and a female announcer. Afterwards the subjects were observed at play in a room full of toys, including the TV viewer.

Ms. Ruble says that younger children played with the TV viewer indiscriminately, while boys or girls of the age of "gender constancy" (which in turn is determined by another battery of tests) avoided the toy if they had seen the cartoon showing the opposite sex with it and chose to play with it if they had seen

'TARTUFFE' AT INTIME: Jamie Horton, as the bourgeois gentleman Orgon, and Nan Bleemer as his daughter, play major roles in Summer Intime's production of "Tartuffe," Moliere's 17th century comedy. The comedy opens Thursday at Murray Theater and runs through Sunday, and also next Thursday through Sunday, July 6 through 9.

News Of The THEATRES

SUMMER INTIME OPENS

Thursday with 'Tartuffe.' Bolstered by a successful benefit performance by the Inn Cabaret, and eager to play in the newly-renovated Murray Theater on the University Campus, Summer Intime launches its new season this Thursday with a production of Moliere's 17th century comedy, "Tartuffe."

This summer, the beginning of Summer Intime's second decade of productions, promises to be a busy one. In addition to its plays, the group continues to present its summer series of films. This Wednesday the choice is the Hitchcock thriller, "Torn Curtain," with Paul Newman. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week, film buffs who stay in town over the Fourth of July weekend will be able to see "Lenny," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," and "In Cold Blood," respectively. All shows are at 8 p.m. in air-conditioned McCormick Hall.

In the meantime, Summer Intime is preparing for the July 7 opening of the Ice Cream Cabaret, which will feature its own resident company, directed by Dale Coye, as well as ice cream-ten flavors in all. The Ice Cream Cabaret will serve up its entertainment in the basement cafe adjacent to Murray Theater.

The theater activities will be produced again this year by Geoffrey Rich and Clayton Platt. In "Tartuffe," the central character, Orgon, is played by Jamie Horton of Princeton. Tartuffe, a wily opportunist and swindler played by Yale Rep grad Richard Bey, gains ascendancy over Orgon, who not only makes over his fortune but offers his daughter (Nan Bleemer) in marriage to his "spiritual" guru. Only when he actually witnesses Tartuffe's attempt to seduce his wife, portrayed by Melanie Haymond, does Orgon come to his senses, with a little help from a wise and meddling maid (Margaret Emory). The unexpected conclusion is a redemptive triumph of good over evil.

Daniel F. Berkowitz, a 1970 graduate of Princeton, directs this comedy. For the past several years, Mr. Berkowitz has been directing in North Carolina and Canada, as well as throughout New Jersey.

Casting also has recently been announced for the season's second show, "Holiday." Kimothy Cruse, director of last season's "110 in the Shade," returns to direct this comedy by Philip Barry. Set in the 1920s, the play involves two beautiful sisters and their battle over a rash and irreverent young man. Margaret Emory, Melanie Haymond, and Jamie Horton star. "Holiday" opens July 13.

NEXT, AT OPEN AIR THEATRE: The Pennington Players' production of "Camelot," with Sharon Alexander and Wayne Carter as Guenevere and Arthur, will be the second play of the season at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing Park. Opening night is Thursday, July 6.

At Open Air Theatre. The Pennington Players will present the musical, "Camelot" at the Open Air Theater in Washington Crossing State Park beginning July 6. This Lerner and Loewe show first graced the Broadway stage in the early '60s, and has remained popular because of the beautiful costumes and sets, moving story line and memorable songs. The story takes place in mythical Camelot and concerns the plight of King Arthur and his Queen Guenevere.

This Pennington Players production will be their 15th consecutive summer show at the Open Air Theater.

"Camelot" will be under the artistic and musical direction of Richard Loatman. Judy and Jeff Glazer will once again produce the Players' summer show. Other members of the production staff include David Tobiasz, assistant director; Laura White, choreographer; Donna Lee, costumes; Jean Delgado, set design; Jack Rees, set construction; Kathy Garofano, props; Laure Scaccetti, make-up; Ernie Andreoli, rehearsal pianist; and Frank Hujber, stage manager. CIRCUS IS COMING

To Shopping Center. The Great American Circus is coming to the Princeton Shopping Center Thursday for performances at 4 and at 8 under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce.

Those who arrive at the showgrounds early will have the opportunity of seeing the elephants begin their duties of unloading the trucks, helping to erect the tent poles and furnishing the power that pulls the big top into position. They do many other chores for which human strength is not enough to get the job done.

Then, after donning their fancy harness and ornate blankets, comes the time to display their prowess as the largest performers the show has to offer. At each performance the big animals

Theatre Needs Home

Princeton Street Theatre, which for six years has been in the Dorothea House on John Street, must vacate in September to make room for the Eden Institute and is looking for new quarters.

Supported by contributions, Street Theatre is mainly a summer group of young people who use a trailer as a stage to give free performances for the public. However, an office, storage space and a room for rehearsals and workshops are urgently needed.

Street Theatre has its own furniture and thinks of itself as a responsible and considerate tenant which would improve the conditions of any space made available.

Those who know of such a space should call the theatre at 924-7452 any time during the day.

SEASON OPENS JULY 6

At Peddie School. Theatre-By-The-Lake will open its sixth summer season on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 6, 7 and 8 with the Charles Strause-Lee Adams romp through the '50s, "Bye, Bye Birdie."

Directors Tom Cardea and Francis A. Towne have assembled a large cast for the show. Rich Hutchinson, a veteran of several past "Lake" shows, will play Albert Peterson. Pat Russo of Princeton Junction, whose credits include "West Side Story" and "Damn Yankees," will play the long-suffering Rose.

Rosey Grier of Trenton, a veteran of theatre in the area, takes the role of Mrs. Peterson. Suzanne Stachurski of Cranbury, fresh from a performance as Lili in "Carnival," portrays Kim MacAfee. Her frustrated father and mother will be played by Joe Matteo, another TBTL veteran, and Joanne Fish, both of Hightstown. Michael Arcieri of Pennington plays the King of Rock 'n' Roll, Conrad Birdie.

Sets are designed by Tom Cardea and Lighting design by Paul Faloon, who series will be offered Friday, a professional production of July 7, at 7:30 on Pardee Field "Godspell" in Milwaukee, on the University campus. Choreography will be by Pam Jim Allington's Mainstream band will play jazz and rock "for those who want to boogie."

Theatre-By-The-Lake is an indoor theatre located in Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie School campus, South Main and Ward streets in Hightstown. Ample parking is available. Tickets are priced at $3.75 and $4.25. For further information or reservations call the theatre at 609-443-4544 after 7 week nights.

FILMS TO CONTINUE

New Program Wednesday. The second week of McCarter Theatre Company's Summer Cinema '78 series at air-conditioned Kresge Auditorium on the Princeton campus (Washington Road) will focus on two films directed by England's Nicholas Roeg, "Don't Look Now" and "The Man Who Fell to Earth." The double bill will be shown nightly this Wednesday through Sunday, beginning at 7:30 on Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings, and at 8 on Friday and Saturday evening.

"Don't Look Now," a 1974 production, is both a subtle and a sophisticated story with supernatural overtones, about a child's death. Donald Sutherland plays the father who refuses to acknowledge his extrasensory abilities, while Julie Christie is his wife, who takes refuge in the visions of a blind psychic. Director Roeg speculates about levels of perception and reality, and his film is at once a disturbing tale of guilt, clairvoyance and love.

Rock star David Bowie is "The Man Who Fell to Earth," already a science-fiction film classic to rank with "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters." Bowie plays a frail and exotic ingenue from outer space who is exposed to and finally overcome by modern technology, American capitalism, and his earthly love (Candy Clark). Roeg's 1976 film takes place in New York, the Southwest, and on another world in a distant universe. The supporting cast includes Rip Torn and Buck Henry.

Single admissions to "Summer Cinema's" double bill programs are available at the Kresge Auditorium Box Office one hour prior to the starting time of the first film. In addition, discount coupon books for the entire summer season of weekly double-features are still available, and may be obtained at Kresge at showtime.

JOHN W. KAUFFMAN, PRESIDENT

June 26, 1978

Dear Friends of The Medical Center at Princeton:

A big "thank you" to the thousands of residents of The Medical Center at Princeton Service Area who supported, by letter, telegram and phone calls, our critical need for 30 additional medical and surgical beds to safely serve you. This letter is a progress report.

At a meeting on June 23, 1978, State Commissioner of Health Joanne E. Finley, MD, assured us that the Medical Center's Certificate of Need application would be reconsidered by the State Health Planning & Coordinating Council at its August 25th meeting, and that she would issue a final decision on our application, promptly following that meeting.

We did note that:

- .The medical and surgical census at The Medical Center at Princeton has been in excess of 100% occupancy during the month of June.
- .We are still forced to utilize 12 beds in our solariums.
- .The Medical Center's Regional Service Area as defined by HSA IV, continues to grow.
- .Our patients continue to be rescheduled to their detriment, both emotionally and financially.
- .The Crow Construction Company has advised us that building costs are escalating in excess of 8/10th of 1% per month, and a delay of two months will escalate construction cost to the Medical Center by $10,000 per month, or a total of $20,000 for July and August.

In consideration of the above, we did ask what useful purpose will be served by any further delay?

However, in the spirit of cooperation and a desire to effect an expeditious decision by the Commissioner, The Medical Center at Princeton reluctantly agreed to a deferment to August.

Your support of the Medical Center was most effective, and I hope it will assure a positive response to our need. As soon as we have received the Commissioner's decision in August, we will notify you.

Thank you again for your help.

Very sincerely yours,

John W. Kauffman
President

LET'S TALK ABOUT

MORE TREES NEEDED TO DE-POLLUTE AIR

by Sam daTuro

Air pollution, once a problem singular to cities, has spilled over into the suburbs and countryside.

It is not unusual to find a blanket of haze filled with pollutants stretching from Boston to Atlanta and southward.

The effects of this on trees, shrubs and plants are of growing concern. Scientists are now endeavoring to measure more precisely the accumulated pollution injury and damage to trees and other green growing things.

Tons of carbon dioxide, even deadly carbon monoxide, as well as hydrocarbons and nitrous oxides from exhausts of autos, trucks, planes and other man-made sources are emitted into the air.

As a result, leaves of trees, shrubs and crops exhibit flecks that turn yellow and then brown. This slows up photosynthesis. It may have other more serious side effects when the pollutants washing into the soil are taken up by roots.

One way to help de-pollute the air is to plant more trees. Trees take in carbon dioxide the way humans take in oxygen. Trees discharge oxygen which helps purify the air. It may take a dozen trees to help balance the carbon dioxide harm a single large auto or truck does to the air, but this start is worth while as other measures are being devised to make the air safe for man and plants.

Women's Club have been installed for the 1978-1979 club year.

They are Mrs. Helen Povilaitis, president, data processing technician, Princeton Regional Schools; Mrs. LaVerne Hebert, first-president, owner, LDH Printing Unlimited; Mrs. Margareta Schenk, second vice-president, assistant manager, Houghton real estate; Mrs. Mary Ellen Coleman, recording secretary, assistant to master, Princeton University; Mrs. Teddie Marciniak, corresponding secretary, student employment coordinator, Princeton University; and Arlene Waters, treasurer, financial analyst, E. R. Squibb.

Television Study

the cartoon with individuals of the same sex.

The implication of this and other studies, she writes, is that "If children are most susceptible for modeling at intermediate ages, then it is clear that any ameliorative effect which television can have on sex role stereotyping has to be directed to children of intermediate age."

From the time of her graduate studies at UCLA before coming to Princeton five years ago, Ms. Ruble has been interested in motivation in children, particularly as it relates to achievement. One study, which is using Princeton children this summer, is about how children perceive characteristics in themselves and others and is but one of the building blocks of studies that are carefully constructed to get a better idea of the many different kinds of things that make for being or not being motivated to achieve.

In this study, for which 50 to 60 children between ages 4 and 11 will be used, a child is shown a video tape made by the psychology department using other children as actors. The tape portrays children in various acts or using certain skills. After seeing the tape, the subject will be asked questions about what he saw to find out how he perceived the child in the film and what he would predict that child would do in other situations.

Here again age differences come into play. Younger children, Ms. Ruble says, focus on physical actions and don't seem to think of other people as possessing personalities. Ms. Ruble is interested in that point when a child learns that a person has attitudes or abilities that are stable.

"If children don't see themselves or others as having stable characteristics or abilities, then if they fail on a particular task they will ascribe too much importance to the failure and will tend to give up. The point at which they develop this sense may have an importance for education—we may need a more individualistic approach at certain ages."

Strict Guidelines. The Office of Research and Project Administration which administers the grants under which the studies are made has strict guidelines as to how they shall be conducted. Parents are told in detail of the procedures and sign a consent form, and the child's name is removed from the study as soon as the data is collected. Ms. Ruble says that parents so far have shown a good deal of interest in the research and have put forth their own views on children's behavior.

The general thrust of all the studies is an attempt to arrive at a sense of what concepts children have at different ages and how they process or integrate information. Or to put it another way, it is all about how children perceive the world and what the effects of their changing perceptions are on their behavior.

SPORTS In Princeton

26 GAMES BOOKED
For Tigers in Hockey. A pair of contests with the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis highlight a 26-game Princeton University hockey schedule announced by Director of Athletics Royce N. Flippin, Jr. The Tigers will play 15 of the 16 Eastern College Athletic Conference Division I teams (Vermont excepted) at least once, including NCAA Champion Boston University and a pair of home-and-home games with the other Ivy League hockey colleges. Penn gave up the sport last spring, and Columbia has never had a team.

Schedule highlights include back-to-back battles with the University of Minnesota before Christmas (December 22-23) and the RPI Invitational after (December 27-29). The Gophers are a traditional power in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association and are coached by Herb Brooks, the 1980 United States Olympic coach for the Winter Games in Lake Placid. The Tiger six will face inter-sectional rival Air Force on the first day of the RPI Tournament and then will play St. Lawrence and the host Engineers in the round-robin affair.

Key home contests set for Baker Rink include a weekend with NCAA runner-up Boston College in early March. The Tigers upset the Red in a thrilling 5-4 overtime decision last season. Other top matches at home will be with ECAC playoff teams RPI (January 6), New Hampshire (January 9), Brown (February 10), and a Sunday afternoon contest with Providence (January 28).

Jim Higgins, who led Princeton to its most successful season in a decade in his first year, will take his skaters to open the new campaign against Army at West Point on November 22. Only two of the Bengals' first 13 games will be on Baker ice, a November 25 date with Dartmouth and a December 1 meeting with Middlebury.

The complete schedule: November 22, at Army; 25, Dartmouth; 28, at Yale. December 1, Middlebury; 8, at Northeastern; 9, at Boston University; 16, at Brown; 22, at Minnesota; 23, at Minnesota; 27-28-29, RPI Invitational at Troy, N.Y.

January 3, at Colgate; 6, RPI; 9, New Hampshire; 28, Providence; 31, at Cornell. February 3, Harvard; 7, Yale; 10, Brown; 14, at Harvard; at Dartmouth; 23, at Clarkson; 24, at St. Lawrence. March 2, Boston College; 3, Cornell.

Coaching Change Made. Con Schmidt, assistant coach of the University of Pennsylvania hockey team for the past two seasons, has been named to the same post at Princeton. Higgins has announced. He replaces Brad Richards, captain of the 1975 Princeton hockey squad, who resigned to obtain a master's degree in urban planning from the University of Minnesota.

Schmidt, an outstanding forward at Brown University, captained the Bruins his senior year (1970-71) and was an All-Ivy League second team selection. He is a two-time recipient of the Frank Jones Trophy as the "Best Defensive Forward in New England."

After graduating from Brown with a degree in English Literature, he played professional hockey with the Oklahoma City Blazers of the Central Hockey League and then the Dayton Gems of the International Hockey League. Prior to coaching at Pennsylvania, he was the assistant varsity coach at Army for two seasons. He is the son of Milt Schmidt, a former player and coach of the Boston Bruins and a member of the National Hockey League's Hall of Fame.

Brought to You by John Bernard

What are the most home runs any player has ever hit in one season in professional baseball? ... The record was set by Joe Bauman, who hit 72 homers in 1954 in the Longhorn League. ... No one has ever topped that in one season in pro ball.

The most famous tennis tournament in the world—Wimbledon—has had many well-known winners over the years, but the most unusual was the man who won the tournament exactly 100 years ago, in 1878 ... P. Frank Hadow entered Wimbledon that year after having taken up tennis only a few months earlier ... Despite his lack of experience, he surprised everybody by winning—and then he gave up tennis, and never played again in another tournament the rest of his life ... So he won the only major tournament he ever played in.

+++

Here's a baseball question that fools a lot of people ... If a batted ball hits the pitching rubber and then bounces into foul territory between home and third base, is it a fair ball or foul? ... The official rules read: "When a batted ball hits the pitcher's rubber and, without touching anyone, rebounds over the catcher's head, or to foul territory between home and first, or home and third, it is a foul ball."

I bet you didn't know ... that many health insurance plans, including Blue Cross-Blue Shield, do not cover children after they reach 19 years old or graduate from college.

For eight years he was assistant to Emil Wandashin, the highly-respected basketball coach at Ewing High School. He left Ewing to take a teaching position at Hopewell Valley High School in Pennington where he was head basketball coach for two years. He will continue to teach at Hopewell Valley.

KOFFEE KUP WINS 21ST

Sweet Corn Keeps Pace. Sweet Jersey Corn, led by Cookie Cook and Dee Pearce, defeated Kingston Wine last week, 15-2, and came back Sunday to top Community Liquors, 12-4, to remain undefeated in the Women's Softball League.

For six innings, the Zephyrs battled Conte's Bar and led 3-2, but Amy Shillaber's hitting and Debbie Breithaupt's grand slam triggered a 15-3 Conte victory.

It was showdown time between two unbeaten — last year's playoff finalists, Koffee Kup, the champions, and Conte's, the runners up. For six innings it was tied; in the top of the seventh, Kup banged out five straight hits and went on to score eight runs and swamp the Orange and White, 13-5. Earlier, the Kup, led by Charla Green, crushed Triple-A Taxi 16-5. Its win streak is now at 21.

It was a bad week for Ivy Inn, which twice fell victim to comebacks and one-run losses. First, Community Liquors came from behind on Debbie Ficarro and Carol Luiden's timely hitting, winning 14-13. Then in extra innings, the Ivies scored three times to take the lead, only to see Kingston Wine rally for four runs in the bottom of the ninth on hits by Debbie Dix and Agie Teresky for a 15-14 win.

Brener Brothers scored 15 runs on 13 walks by Landau pitchers in the top of the seventh to stroll to a 18-16 victory, but Triple-A Taxi rallied for seven runs and an 11-9 win over Breners as Terri Halpin homered and drove in five runs.

With the cellar awaiting the loser, Landau's and the Zephyrs saw the lead change five times before the Zephyrs finally prevailed, 11-9. Paula Johnson's one-handed stab of a liner in the last inning with two on iced the win.

The standings:

COSMOS GAME FINALE

For Soccer Club. The Princeton Soccer Club ended its season last week with a trip to the game between The Cosmos and the Washington Diplomats at Giants Stadium in the Meadowlands.

Activities will resume again in September. All members will receive literature on the fall program in August.

The entire staff will again be involved, including Dick Broad, John Jameson, Jack Huckel, Dave DeVido and Rich McHale. They will be joined by former Princeton Day School varsity soccer coach Tom DeVito.

ERRORS COSTLY

In Princeton Post 76 Loss. Seven errors, three each by shortstop Evan Press and catcher Jeff Lechowicz, plus 16 hits added up to a 17-1 victory Saturday for Hightstown Post 148 over Princeton Post 76.

Pitcher Jeff Catelli limited Princeton, which went down to its sixth loss in eight outings, to a pair of hits—both by Press. Hightstown (4-5) scored six runs in the first and six more in the fifth. Steve Miller (1-2) took the loss for Princeton.

Two days earlier, Princeton played a fine game in nearly upsetting Trenton Post 93 before being edged, 2-1. This time walks led to the losers' undoing.

Once-defeated Trenton scored one run in the second off three free passes and Sam Risoldi's single. Princeton got it back in the fifth.

Bob Easton began with a double off Trenton pitcher Fred Falchi, the ace hurler for Pennington School this spring. Jim Robertson got on via an error and both runners advanced on Jim Flood's sacrifice. After Press was walked intentionally to load the bases, Easton scored on Keith Phox's infield grounder.

Princeton hurler John Luse was in command until the final inning when his control deserted him again. A walk, stolen base, intentional walk and another free pass loaded the bases. Luse then walked Guy Chiarello to force in the winning run.

Both teams had five hits. Lechowicz had two for Princeton, including a double, while rightfielder Steve McCormick had three of Trenton's five hits.

GOVERNORS' CUP WON

On Final Hole. A 1-up victory Sunday gave the Governors' Cup to the team of Stuart Drier and Frank Crecca at Springdale Golf Club. They defeated Willie Rossi and Danforth Hall in an 18-hole match.

The winners had preserved a slim margin during most of the second nine and needed only a tie on the 18th to triumph. They succeed Jim Litvack and Harold Crane the 1977 champions in this event, who lost in the quarter-finals.

On Saturday, Rossi and Hall recorded a 5-and-4 victory in the semi-final round over Fred Short and Jack Childress, Rossi, whose handicap is 6, went out in 34 and carded a 37 on the way in to shoot even par for the 18 holes.

In Saturday's other match, Crecca and Drier defeated

LEGION GAMES SPLIT

Between Princeton, Bordentown. In a Legion doubleheader played Sunday at Princeton University's Clarke Field between Princeton Post 76 and Bordentown Post 26, the teams split one-run decisions.

Bordentown scored all its runs in the second inning of the first game to win, 4-3. The winning run scored during a run-down as Mike Fassl got his first Legion win. Keith Phox (1-3) of Princeton took the loss.

Princeton, held to five hits, scored all its runs in the third. Shortstop Jon Miller had two of the five safeties.

In the second game, Princeton was outthit 10-5 but took advantage of ten walks issued by pitcher Stu Faulkes to outlast Bordentown, 9-8. Bob Easton and Keith Greener each batted in two runs for Princeton, while Mike Geisert homered for the losers.

Steve Miller of Princeton got the decision to even his record at 2-2. The victory enabled Princeton to climb out of the cellar in the league's Northern Division, which is now occupied by North Trenton (1-9). Princeton is 2-7.
